IN 'WIZARD OF OZ'

Dorothy Follows Yellow Brick Road

By Christy Harris

Have you ever wished that you could find a yellow brick road, walk down it, and end up in a land far, far away, a land of witches, and elves, and talking scarecrows, a land of magic, a city of emeralds?

This year dreams came true as the drama class brought fantasy to life on stage by presenting their own version of "The Wizard of Oz" to the local elementary schools.

Shouts of laughter rang through the halls as Dorothy, (Paula Young), took her friends, the Scarecrow, (Jeff Bozeman), the Tin Man, (John Hyatt), and the Cowardly Lion, (Kelley Pierce), on their long journey to visit the great Wizard, (Jimmy Shearer), only to face many hardships along the way.

The children were most fond of the mean, bad witch, (Julie Yonan), who, like the entire cast, gave an outstanding performance.

Other cast members included Tammy Hudson and Tammy Cortese as the Cats, David Galindo and Roy Flores as the elves, Penny McDonald as Glenda the Good Witch, Renee Cornelius as the maid, Sharla Farmer, Katie Holman, and Jerri Snider as Poppies, Patti Floyd, as the guard, and Cody Owen, the servant of the wicked witch.

When asked if she would like to visit the land of Oz, one little girl said, "Yes, as long as I had my magic shoes." It just goes to show that even without magic — "There's no place like home," — Dorothy.

Old vs. New

Out with the old and in with the new. This was the case as Lake View showed signs of keeping up with the changing times. Yes, out went the old report cards and long hours of averaging endless rows of grades, and in came the new computerized grade report sheets.

It was a long drawn-out process at first, organizing the new computerized program, but the end result made the beginning effort worthwhile. According to assistant principal, Bob Meeks, the most trouble came in gathering all of the information needed to be put into the computer; but once the information was there, it stayed. This saved a great amount of time and energy for everyone, especially the faculty.

First, each student's schedule was fed into the computer, located in San Antonio. Then, at the end of each six weeks' period, teachers filled out "bubble" sheets, a sheet consisting mainly of circles to be shaded in. The students' grades for that six weeks were put on the "bubble" sheets along with comments selected by each teacher from a list of comments, both good and poor, about the student. The teacher also gave the student a grade based on citizenship in class.

After all of the information had been put into the computer, it came out on individual print-out sheets and was then given to each student. Each print-out consisted of student's name, title, period, and teacher for each course, letter grades for each subject, citizenship grades, and comments on the student. The print-out also consisted of a grade code, showing the average each letter grade stands for and the list of comments which the teacher could choose from. Every print-out contained all the information from all of the previous six weeks' periods along with the new grades and comments.

Unlike the old system, these reports did not have to be signed by a parent and returned to the school. A carbon copy of each print-out was kept on file in the school's office.

The computer system was able to do much more than just print-outs. It gave information on each teacher such as how many A, B, or C students he had in his classes. It selected the honor roll, valedictorian, and ranked each student in his class. The computer also showed how many classes a student passed or failed — just about anything once it had collected a student's name and grades.

The computer grade reporting system was new in 1981 to San Angelo, but has been used in the past few years by schools all over the country.

The system was a dramatic change, and while not everyone may have approved, it nevertheless forwarded Lake View's growth of modernization with the changing world around us.

'Drag' Provides Variety:

By Terry Bahlman
Staff Writer

Traffic is heavy, cars are lined along the street. Parking lots are nearly full and the roar of engines drowns the usual calmness. From the air it would look like an unending procession of hundreds of cars and trucks.

While it sounds like a rush-hour traffic jam, it may occur as late as midnight, for it is a typical weekend night.

Teenagers dominate the scene rather than businessmen, working women or shoppers. The parents are at home, but the "kiddies" have come out to play. Not with tinkertoys or Star Wars characters, but with "grown-up" toys, commonly known as cars.

The "play" is, seemingly, to waste gas and tires in a game called "riding around" or to some "cruising". The "toys" are anything from a '55 Chevy to an '80 Porsche. It all depends on how much money you make or how much money your daddy makes. The object of the game is, well let's see.

The thing that makes the weekend game so interesting is that even though the object usually remains the same, the way you play and the results are sometimes different.

The object of a typical weekend for males is explained by Toby Allen, senior, in this way, "To get out of the house, organize parties, chase girls, and just check out what's going on."

For girls, the object of the game is slightly different. According to Tammy Hudson, senior, girls "go anywhere there are good looking guys."

Like all good games, the weekend game has its pitfalls. There are fights, wrecks, flat tires and cars that won't run but the most popular form of setback is a policeman, commonly referred to as chips, fuzz, pigs, and the law.

Racing, Chasing Available

If it weren't for policemen, though, the game wouldn't be as exciting. For instance, the speed demons who love to "burn rubber" or "squall" their tires drive like "little grannies" when a cop is near. But, as soon as the police are out of sight, the tires begin to spin. What makes this so fun is that sometimes you can't see the cops, but they can see you. In this case, the offender gets to see pretty red and blue flashing lights.

Despite the bad, there's also the good. If guys are really lucky and show off enough, they might just persuade some cute little girls to pull over and talk. This gives the guys a chance to show off a little more and maybe, just maybe, the girls will be impressed.

Of course this can work two ways. A guy with a nice car is a prime target for a girl with a fancy eye and a sweet voice. Thus the girl may get to ride in "Joe Macho's" car.

If variety is the spice of life, then the spice of life is alive and well on the "drag." Every kind of car manned by every kind of individual is visible. There are hot rods with loud engines, loud stereos, and wild drivers; Fancy cars are also present with fancy drivers but it's usually obvious that it's daddy's car.

Most prevalent on the scene are pick-ups. Small, medium or large, loud or quiet, clean and fancy or dirty and barely together, it wouldn't be a weekend without pick-ups. After all, the best place to throw a water balloon is from the back of a pick-up. Pick-ups are a necessity to some. After all who ever heard of a true bonafide redneck in a 280Z?

Now that the game is set up and everybody has his game pieces it's time to party. The rules: four hours of showing off, traffic weaving, hot rodding, stereo playing, girl/boy chasing, by America's future leaders: today's teenagers.

It's dark, the lights are out and the cars are all gone. It's after midnight and the "kiddies" have gone home to mommy and daddy.

Spirit Lights Up At LV Bonfire

A strike of the match was all it took to ignite the first Lake View Homecoming of the '80's. Energy levels were at their highest peak as the students united to witness the towering pile of wood transform into a blazing inferno.

As the temperature of the bonfire rose, students joined hands to form "a circle of spirit." Intensity grew as pep talks and class yells filled the air. Chants turned into cheers when Jimmy Marsh and Angie Williams were crowned as Mr. and Miss Flame.

Whether it was the anticipation in the students' eyes or the blaring of nearby horns, Bonfire '80 fired up the Chiefs for their Homecoming encounter with the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes.

H'coming Hectic

Homecoming week was hectic with everyone's adrenaline flowing high. Classes as well as faculty were in competion, all with one goal in mind: backing the Chiefs to a victory.

It all got started on Tuesday, Oct. 14, with Masquerade Day. Other costume days were Toga Day, Black Day and Blue Day.

Signs covered the halls of Lake View all week as clubs and classes competed for the $25 first place award. The Art Club's "Smoke the Tornadoes," was recognized as the best sign.

Homecoming floats made up a big part of the week as individual classes and clubs worked to win the $25 cash prize. At the car caravan Thursday night, the sophomores class float captured the prize money.

H'Coming Memories

October 13-17 was the most important and celebrated five days of the school year. It was Homecoming, the time of floats, class signs, good friends, new romances, and hard work. Girls were loaded down with mums from their friends and boyfriends. By Friday, the week's atmosphere changed and excitement filled the air. October 17 had everyone involved in the Homecoming events. As the day came to a close, the night was just beginning.

Anticipation filled the air as Julie Yonan was crowned Homecoming Queen, and the Chiefs walked away with a 21-0 district win over the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes in their pockets.

The night continued as students entered the Student Center with the sounds of rock, country, and disco music filling the air. The night had come and gone much too fast, but as the students left and the lights were turned off, October 17, 1980 for many, was a night never to be forgotten.

Golden Goose Performed

A real live Golden Goose? Well, maybe not, but to students of five area elementary schools, Tammy Cortese the "Golden Goose" seemed real enough.

In this play, a simple country boy out chopping wood met a little old lady who in return for his kindness gave him a Golden Goose.

The Golden Goose led Simpleton to the castle of King Krank to woo Princess Cry Baby. Anyone who could make the Princess smile could win her hand in marriage and half the kingdom.

The Golden Goose was the second children's theatre play this year performed by the drama class under the direction of Frank White. According to Mr. White, "The kids think of the students as real actors and actresses and they get a big kick out of the production."

Cast members included Jeff Bozeman, Simpleton; Julie Yonan, Mother; David Galindo, Georgie; Cody Owen, Rupert; Penny McDonald, Little Old Lady; and Tammy Cortese, the Golden Goose.

Others were John Hyatt, Father; Renee Cornelius, Miranda; Sharla Farmer, Helena; Patty Floyd, wife; Paula Young, Cora the Cook; and Roy Flores, Parson.

Also Kelly Pierce, Nellie; Jerri Snider, Bride; Jimmy Shearer, King Krank; Shonda Elliot, Queen Kind; Tammy Hudson, Princess Cry Baby; and Katie Holman, Princess Good Humor.

Texas, My Texas ...

Cowboy boots, five gallon stetsons, snuff dippers and country music . . . these are as common to Texas as "ants are at a picnic." At least Texans thought they were unique to the Lone Star State.

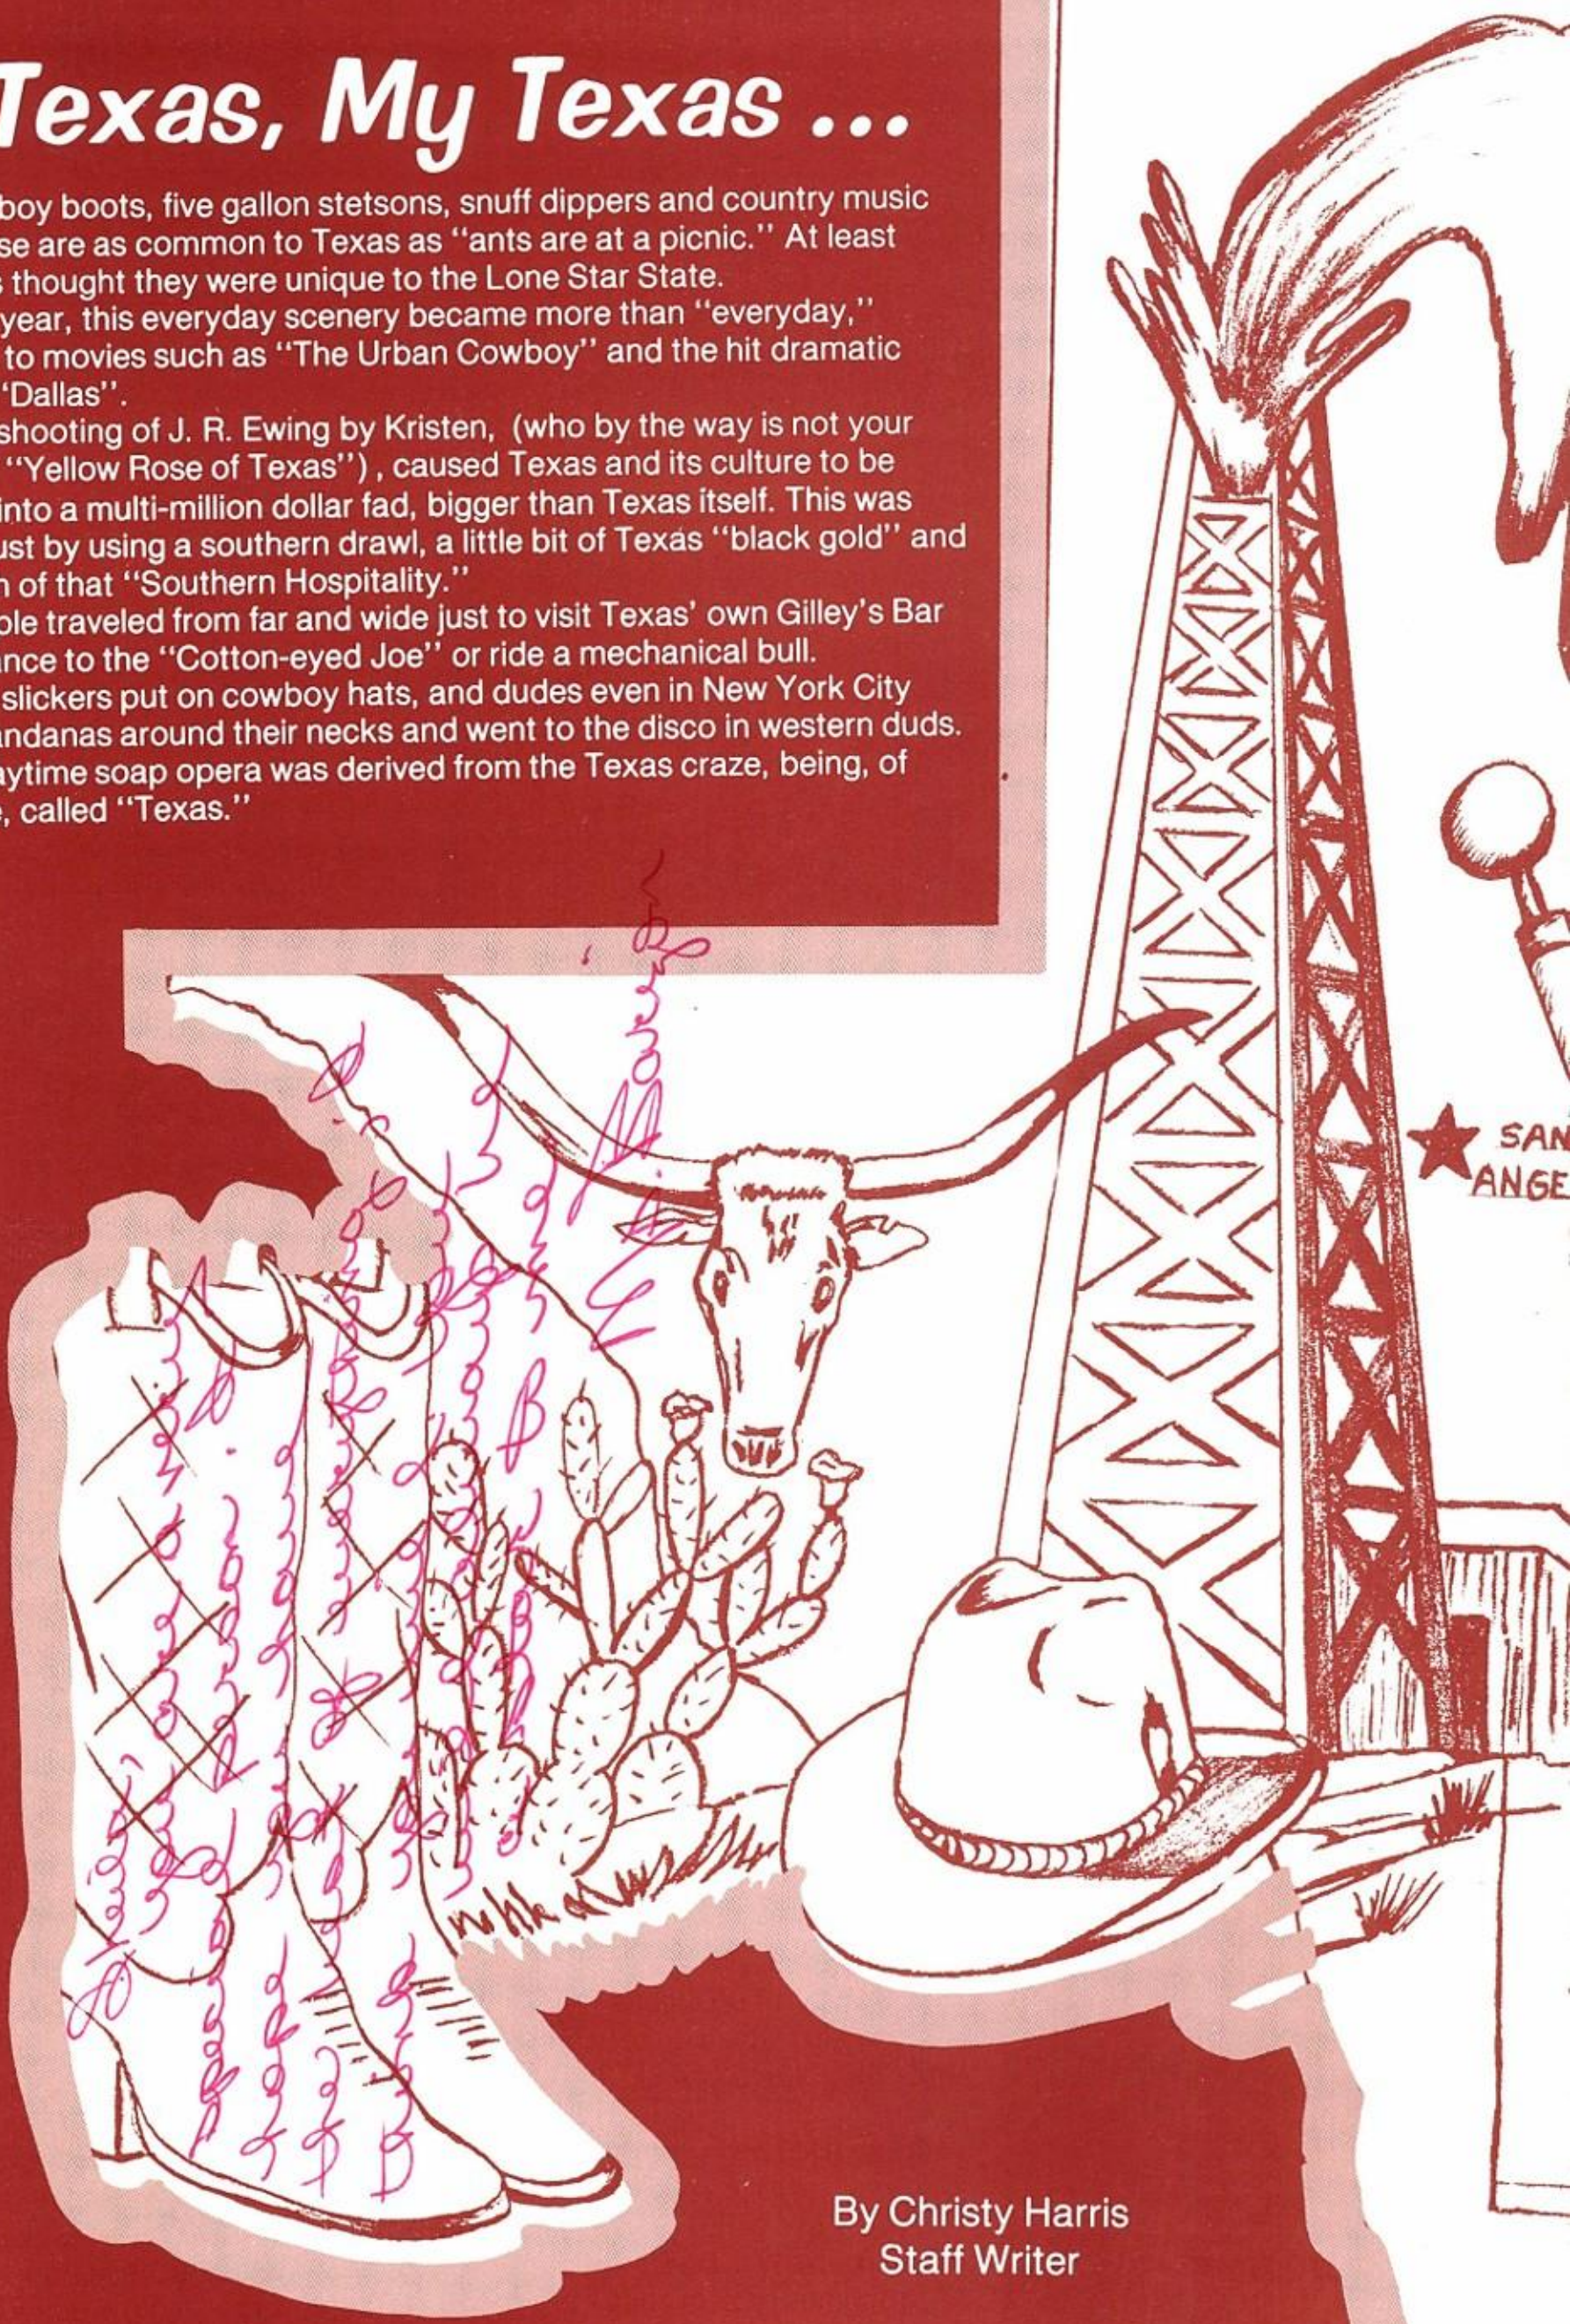
This year, this everyday scenery became more than "everyday," thanks to movies such as "The Urban Cowboy" and the hit dramatic series "Dallas".

The shooting of J. R. Ewing by Kristen, (who by the way is not your typical "Yellow Rose of Texas") , caused Texas and its culture to be blown into a multi-million dollar fad, bigger than Texas itself. This was done just by using a southern drawl, a little bit of Texas "black gold" and a touch of that "Southern Hospitality."

People traveled from far and wide just to visit Texas' own Gilley's Bar and dance to the "Cotton-eyed Joe" or ride a mechanical bull.

City slickers put on cowboy hats, and dudes even in New York City tied bandanas around their necks and went to the disco in western duds.

A daytime soap opera was derived from the Texas craze, being, of course, called "Texas."



By Christy Harris
Staff Writer

Belongs to Everyone Now

The show, like "Dallas", consisted of a bunch of crooked oilmen and beautiful women who spoke with a distinctive southern drawl, Incidentally, ya'll, the only part of Texas in the show was a sky view of Houston in the opening. The rest of the show was filmed at studios in New York by a crew of "damned Yankees." Texans had to forego one internationally extreme stereotype for another. Instead of all Texans wearing western garb and riding around on horses, they are now idealized as being all filthy rich and mean as a wildcat.

But despite the Texas fad that spread worldwide, things stayed the same on Texas ground; same old Dallas Cowboys, same old Houston Oilers. Texas has the same cotton, same sheep and the same crude oil wells. And, as of yet, no one has moved the Alamo. This just goes to show that clothes don't make a person, what really counts comes from "deep in the heart of Texas!"

Denmark Girl Adjusts to USA

By Joe Yonan
and
Sandra Conley

Imagine yourself being across the ocean, alone in a strange country. This would put you in the shoes of Marie Worsøe, a foreign exchange student from Denmark, a country slightly smaller than Louisiana.

The Denmark native, a 16-year-old Lake View senior, seems to be adjusting very well to American culture. If it were not for her Danish accent, the smiling teen would appear as just another American girl.

"Intellectually, she's college level as far as understanding social and moral issues," said Mr. Frank White, Worsøe's speech teacher.

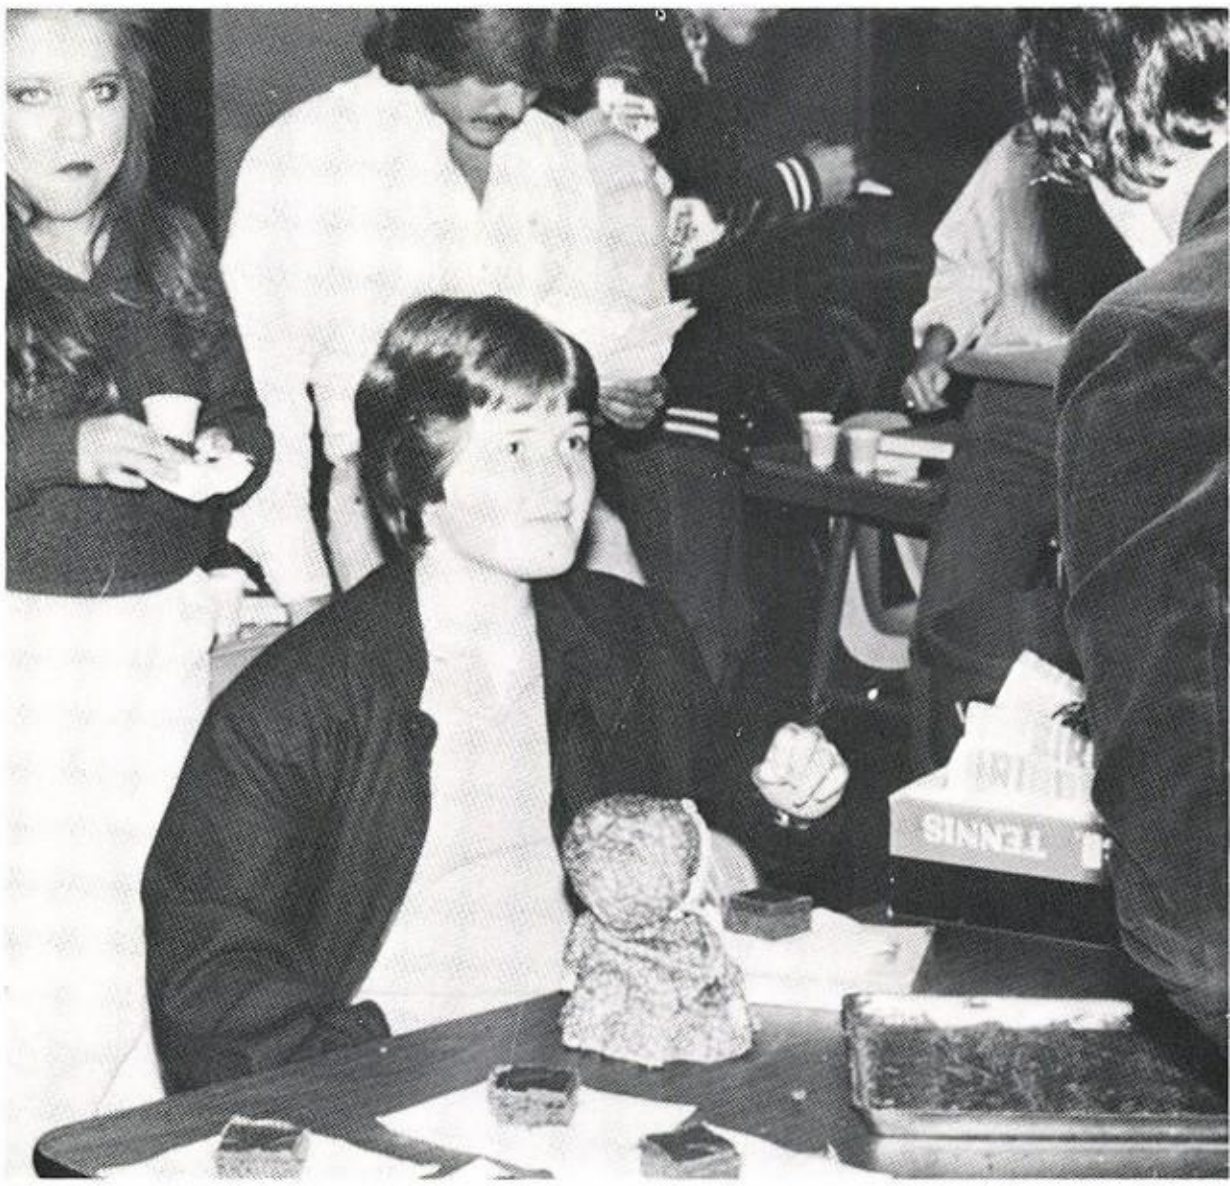
Worsøe was interested in becoming an exchange student because of a past experience.

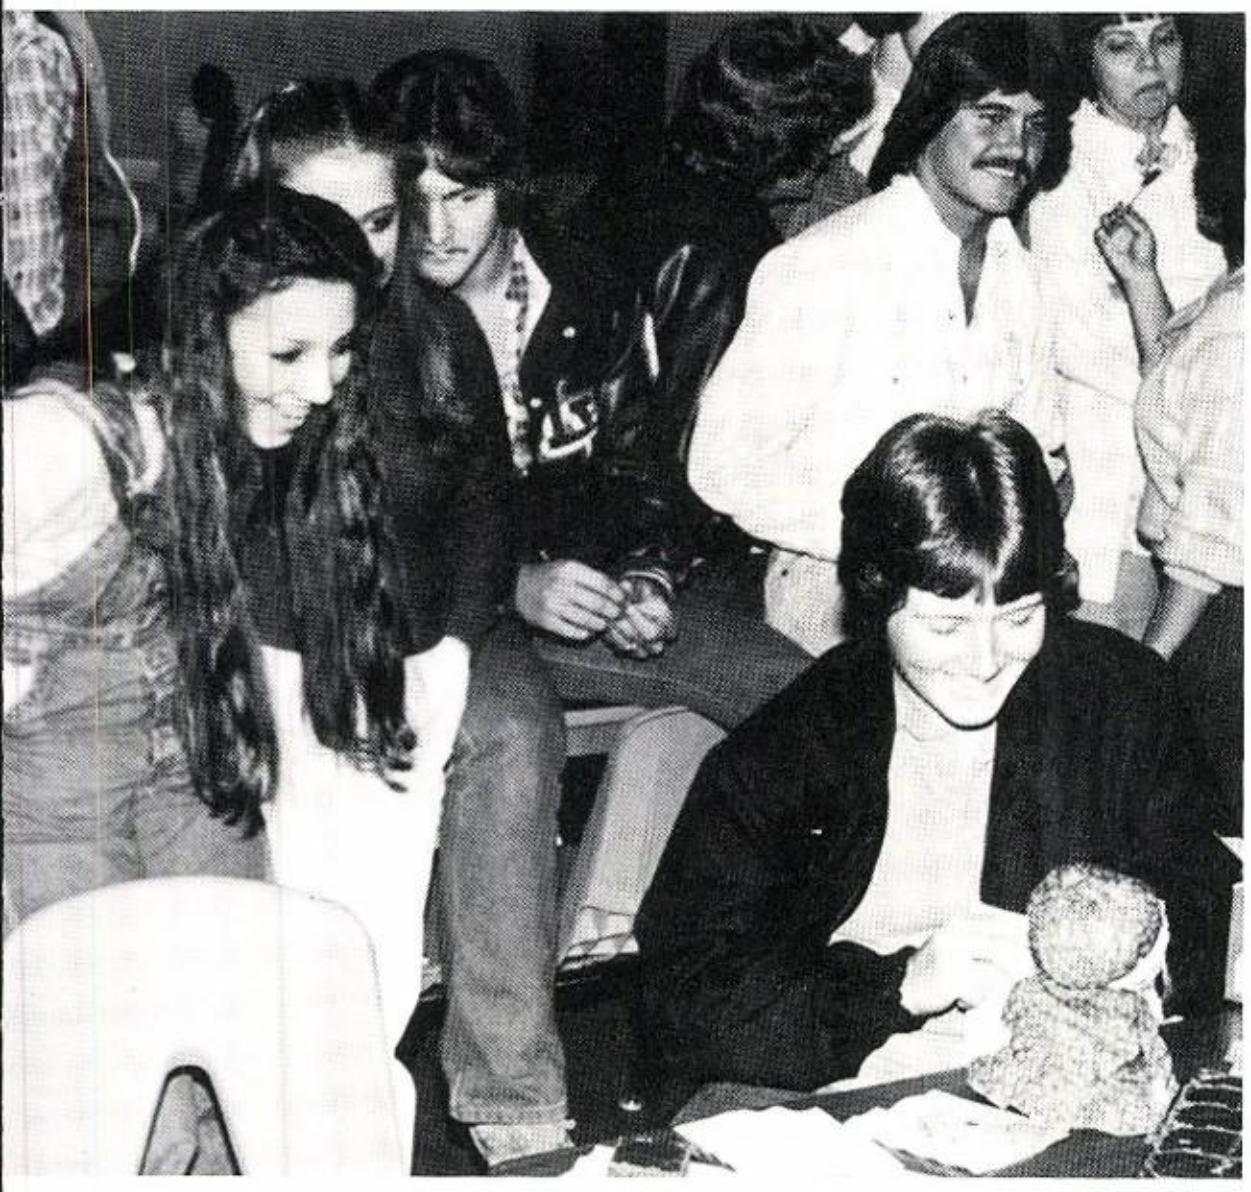
"We had an American that lived with us," explained Marie. Later, she saw a poster in her school advertising student exchange. She sent in an application, and the "wheels" of adventure started to roll. Worsøe was required to take an English test, and had a private interview with the American-Scandinavian Student Exchange Service. Finally, she was chosen as one of about 100 students to come to America.

"She's very preceptive," said Mr. White. "She's a very well-read and educated girl."

Marie is excited about living in America, and she recommends others to come here.

"I think it's a good chance to learn about the country and English," she said.





Americans are more "open" and "friendly" than her native Denmark.

— Marie Worsøe

Mrs. Ann Barker's senior English class treated Worsøe to a birthday party Nov. 24.

"I was really surprised," Worsøe said. Maybe she was surprised because her birthday was really Oct. 8.

Worsøe is on the tennis team, and is a member of the speech class. Her other interests include soccer, which she has played for seven years. She is now on a local soccer team.

Worsøe feels that Americans are more "open" and "friendly," and the people here are her favorite part of this country.

She does find quite a bit of differences in the school system here and in Denmark, where students are only required to attend nine years of school. She believes it is harder to get a good grade in Denmark, but the discipline there is easier. She also said her school was more informal. The biggest difference though, that she found and enjoys is the "school spirit" at Lake View.

The adjustment Worsøe made is less in comparison to the adjustment an American would face in Denmark.

"She's a lot more fluent in this language than we would be in a foreign country," Mr. White said. Worsøe took English in Denmark, and had seen shows from America like "Happy Days," and "Quincy," in her homeland. She will probably be back home by July, but she said, "I would like to come back, maybe to visit, maybe to live."

Coronation Honors Favorites

This year, the annual night for love was also the night for the royal court of Lake View.

February 14, Valentine's Day, the school celebrities were honored at the coronation.

Wearing sashes bearing their honors, the winners of the personalities, class favorites, and Senior Hall of Fame contests were recognized in front of parents, faculty, and fellow students.

Following the coronation, a Valentine dance was held in the student center. A band from Austin called "The Cause" provided live music from "kicker" to punk, and, of course, some good old rock and roll.

The dance was one of four that were sponsored by Student Council during the year.

Mimers Show Off At Concert

On a clear night in January, all the stars came out and they gathered in Lincoln Jr. High's auditorium.

Appearances were made by superstars such as Linda Ronstadt, Pat Benatar, AC/DC and even Elvis. But, it was only Lake View and Lincoln students who were competing in the 2nd Annual Pantomime Show.

Sponsored by the speech club, the show was emceed by KIXY Radio's John Raymond and Clint Barry.

Winning first place in the contest were Steve Mandile, Steve Hernandez, Terry Bahlman, and Mark Alden with their performance of "No Big Deal" by Ambrosia.

Capturing second place was Paula Young, who did her robot version of Devo's "Whip It."

Cheryl Young, Kenneth Lackey, John Gillaspy, and Gary Collins took third place with their imitation of AC/DC's "Shook Me All Night Long."

Highlighting the night were special guest performances given by members of the faculty. Coach Mike Petrick, Mr. Frank White, and Mrs. Laura Barizon did their impersonations of Bobby Bare, George Jones, and Tammy Wynette. A special appearance was made by Coach Jim Slaughter, pantomiming Mac Davis' hit, "It's Hard to Be Humble".

The night of music and dancing proved the thought that you never become too old to play "make believe."

Working Students Earn Money,

HELP WANTED: Average students, 16 years-of-age, senior or junior in high school needed for a part time job. If qualified, contact Mr. Jerry Bristo, vocational counselor, during spring registration.

Lake View High School has 38 percent of its seniors and juniors working half a day and going to school half a day through seven vocational courses.

"I think that a student should be educated both vocationally and educationally," said Mr. Bristo.

"Students learn skills and how to support themsleves," said Mrs. Barbara Purser, Pre-Vocational Office Education teacher.

Some courses such as Industrial Cooperative Training have all boys. Mr. Larry Hill said, "I have 27 boys and would like to have girls." Pre-VOE and OEA on the other hand have all girls.

Students who work can also be involved in school activities. Some students are active in schools, clubs, and church activities while working. "My daughter was active in school, as well as worked half a day," said Mr. Bristo.

Several students are involved in work, play football, and participate in band, cheerleading, and Chiefettes which are popular extracurricular activities. "You don't have a lot of time to enjoy school activities or much of a social life, because once you start working, you give up a lot of these things," said JoElla Forehand, junior.

Another junior, Jessica Simpson said, "Even though you may make a few bucks, in the long run you may realize all the things you missed out on, like being with your friends. Oh yeah, and I'm tired of telling guys the same old and used up line, 'I'm sorry, but I gotta work!'!! Both Simpson and Forehand work but are not in co-op programs.

Some courses are particularly good for the working student to take.

Learn Skills, in Co-Ops

"I wish they would give a public speaking course," said Mrs. Barbara Purser. "This would help the students in their interviews for jobs."

Also helpful are good attendance, typing, and home and family living, which trains a person to be mature and independent.

Students who do work half a day must go to school before they go to work. "No school, no work," said Mrs. Purser.

Working seniors receive credits, if they are working through the vocational courses. "The main purpose is to learn a trade for use after high school," said Mr. Hill. Courses help train students for jobs in the following fields: office work, carpentry, mechanics, telephone operators, or even training at Ethicon. Most students that have jobs will usually keep them and some might find a new job. Those who keep their jobs, will at some time be promoted.

Employers give reports to the teacher about the student. These reports mostly say, "With maturity they, the students, will gain more self-confidence in their ability."

The courses teach responsibilities as it takes a mature person to work in today's society. This maturity must come from both the student and the parents. "I can really enjoy working, pointed out Jessica Simpson, junior.

"If you weigh up all the advantages and disadvantages of working, the advantages always come in on top, because nothing is more fulfilling than having the experience of working and learning to cope with the responsibilities that come along with the job. Plus, independence is always good to have," added Simpson.

According to Mr. Bristo, Mr. Hill, and Mrs. Purser, the working program is a very valuable and successful one. They say that most students love their jobs and there are very few unhappy students. "I like working, it makes me not depend on my parents so much," said Sylvia Sanchez, junior.

"It's a good feeling not having to say 'Hey Mom, can I borrow a dollar?' because now I have my own money. Sure, there are ups and downs at times, but most of all, if you enjoy it, you have an overall good feeling."

Seniors of '81

Many Seniors Affected by Inflation

By Traci Copeland
Staff Writer

Each day inflation greets us in different ways.

Gas, food, gold, and clothes are all examples of the familiar cliche, "the high cost of living." But what about the high cost of being a senior?

Today it costs the average senior between $300 and $400 for the traditional senior trappings. These totals include the money spent in the purchase of senior rings, pictures, announcements, and cap and gown rental.

"My senior year has been most expensive," states Tommy Vickers. He explains why "When you're older and have a job with steady income, you're more apt to spend more money."

This year Vickers is on the paper and annual staff. He said he had to buy more photography equipment and also tended to "go all out" on his picture package and senior ring.

Prices have almost doubled and in some cases, tripled, in the past 10 years. For example, 10 years ago, a high school ring cost about $37. Today the same ring could cost as much as $125. Graduation announcements were about $30. Now, for the same cards it's about $41.50.

"I would say my senior year has been my most expensive," stated Leslie Minor, "I'm working and paying all of my bills." Minor had Chiefettes uniforms to buy as well as a ring and invitations.

Inflation has affected all areas of school life. Cafeteria lunches have gone up 10¢ from last year's 60¢ and yearbooks have gone up $1. Even tests are expensive. College entrance texts costs $8.50 for ACT tests and $9.25 for SAT tests.

"I've had to pay for my ACT and SAT tests. Also my cap and gown, ring, invitations and annual. It all adds up," states Tina Spradley.

David Roeder and Kathy Martin both have a logical excuse for the higher expenses. They both say it costs more because "I" felt like spending more money.

Martin says, "It's my last year and last time to do it."

A number of seniors are working their last year.

Some people wonder why they do. Do these figures help to answer that question?

Men Begin Registration

Many of the men in Lake View registered for the Selective Service during the school year. Anyone who had his 18th birthday this year was required to register.

The Selective Service registration came into effect in the summer of 1980. Men born in 1960 and 1961 visited the post office to register last summer. Any born in 1962 were required to register in January.

The purpose of the registration was to build a pool of names and addresses from which the Selective Service could draw in an emergency.

What Was the Best Part of Your High School Years?

People often feel that their high school days were the best times of their lives. The Chieftain staff asked this year's seniors what they liked best about their high school years. These were their responses:

"Being with my friends." — Tammy Hudson.

"The responsibility and independence I got my senior year!" — Julie Yonan

"Having more activities to participate in such as athletics, dances, seminars, clubs." — Dennis Sartain

"Being in athletics." — Stan Laing

"Seeing my friends every day in school, and at parties." — Mike Dougan

"Meeting new friends, going to football games, and to parties." — Pamela Hendricks

"Our last J.V. game, when Ramo Arocha stole a car at Valton ranch." — Steve Hernandez

"Leaving Brownwood and com ing to Lake View." — Mark Alden

"Being a junior on varsity an going to Bi-District." — Ga Pustka

Scott Shows Abilities

By Karla Wendland
Staff Writer

He is on the National Honor Society, president of F.F.A., and vice-president of the junior class. If you're ever at a dance in Wall or Rowena, you're almost sure to see him out on the dance floor kicking his heels up and having a good ol' time.

Sounds like this could be just about any ordinary person, right? Right.

But it's not. It's Scott Hoelscher, a very special person. What makes him so special and extraordinary? He does all of these things with an artificial leg.

When Scott was 11 years old, he lost his right leg from the knee down but he decided not to let his handicap get him down.

Scott played basketball in the seventh grade but the work-outs caused an infection in his leg and he had to return to the hospital for surgery.

Scott hasn't been involved in any school-sponsored athletics since then, but is hoping to play place kicker next football season.

Right now Hoelscher is working out in off-season and lifting weights.

Because of the chance of another infection, Scott won't be sure until the end of this school year whether he will be playing or not. "It just depends on how it feels," said Scott. "I'm doin' pretty good so far . . . no problems."

So next football season if and when you see a place kicker with an artificial leg giving it his all for the Lake View Chiefs, you know Scott Hoelscher has overcome his handicap.

Students Voice Their Opinions

"What would you like changed here at Lake View High that would have an effect on you and your peers?" This was asked of several sophomores.

"There were a lot of crazy ideas, such as, "I'd like toilet paper put in each stall, not just two, so I wouldn't be late for class waiting for some." commented Kathleen Ward. Several students made this suggestion.

There were quite a few serious suggestions such as, "I'd like to see teachers who weren't here so long, but some that have been here long enough to still be fresh in new ideas, like Mrs. Underwood," said Monica Sanchez.

"Larger parking lots so you don't have to park in the streets, new and bigger classrooms with doors, also different teachers that would understand our lives and help us better," said Severo Soto.

Bubba Ward added he would like to "take the classes you wanted to take instead of biology, but take English, math, and a little history and have teachers that could understand us today."

"We need teachers who have patience and don't have a hot temper, because we students have to have patience!" exclaimed Dianna Gilbert.

"I would cut down on the amount of students per class." said Paul Michalewicz. "I would also like new books instead of using old out-of-date books."

SANDRA ATEN

She Lives Life One Day at a Time

By Becky Rhyne
Staff Writer

Cancer . . . the dreaded word. No one wants it. Many people get, but most say, "Not me, I won't get it."

Sandra Aten, freshman, was one of the many with cancer. She has been diagnosed as having lymphoma. This is known as "the malignancy or cancer of the lymph nodes." In Aten, it was her right chest wall and right armpit.

The cancer was discovered Dec. 10, 1979 by pains in the right shoulder, which were diagnosed as being a "pulled muscle." However, the pain grew worse, and a knot soon formed.

Surgery was performed in San Angelo and most of the tumor was removed. She was then treated with chemotherapy and radiation (cobalt) treatments from Jan. 1980-May 1980 in San Antonio. "Radiation was a breeze, but with chemotherapy, I was sick as a dog," said Aten.

Chemotherapy also had another side effect. It made her hair fall out. So, a wig was needed. Aten wore the wig from Jan., 1980 to Oct. 11, 1980. Then, at a band garage sale, Aten was "horsing around" and the wig was pulled off. "I took Kenny Klinger's hat and so he took mine, and the wig came with it." So, the wig was sent to the cancer hospital in San Antonio "for someone else to use."

Aten said she was too busy to feel sorry for herself about her having cancer, because she had horses to care for, and choir and band to perform in. But, she wasn't scared about having cancer. In fact, she was, "surprised, because I didn't know what it meant."

However, being busy and having cancer didn't keep her from having long hospital stays. She missed Christmas, 1979, New Year's, and rodeo weekend because she was in San Antonio for treatments. "I was almost in the hospital for my birthday, but the doctor let me stay home."

Mrs. Shirley Robison, choir, and Mr. Kyle Viertel, band, neither one knew she had cancer. They both agree that it doesn't interfere with her ability to perform well at all. "If nobody had told me, I wouldn't have known," said Mr. Viertel.

Aten's cancer is in a remission state at this time, but according to Dr. H. Frederick Koch, the San Antonio doctor who treated her, "The tumor is malignant and has the potential to spread at any time. It is not spreading at this time, but we cannot take that for granted." Aten is certainly not taking anything for granted. She still plays her alto saxophone in band, sings with the choir, tends to her horses, and goes for regular check-ups at Goodfellow Air Force Base. In short, she lives life one day at a time.

Mr. and Miss Lake View

Julie Yonan, chosen as Miss Lake View, participated in many speech and drama activities throughout high school. She received the speech and best interpreter awards her junior year and was also Speech Club president this year. Julie was elected Homecoming Queen her senior year and has been the North Angelo Lions Club Queen for two years. She has been an active member of Student Council and was vice-president her senior year. Her junior year she was selected as class favorite. Julie was also named best dressed in the Senior Hall of Fame.

Selected as Mr. Lake View was Jimmy Don Petrick. He has won various citizenship awards and was chosen as Boys' State representative his junior year. Jimmy Don has actively participated in athletics throughout high school. He was a two-year letterman in varsity football and also offensive captain for the Chiefs. He has been an active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and was vice president his senior year. This year, Jimmy Don was also elected Mr. Spirit of Christmas.

Most Likely to Succeed

Selected as the girl Most Likely to Succeed was Denise Baker. She was involved in athletics throughout high school and lettered in varsity basketball and track. She has been a member of the National Honor Society and was president her senior year. Denise was also in Student Council and was secretary of the junior class. She was in Chiefettes and was vice-president her junior year and head drill leader this year. Denise was also a member of the Office Education Association.

Terry Anderson was the boy chosen as Most Likely to Succeed. Terry was treasurer of the National Honor Society and was also a member of the Math Club. His junior year he was selected as Boys' State alternate. Terry also participted in varsity football his junior and senior years. He has been involved in Student Council and the President of the senior class.

Most Beautiful, Handsome

Chosen as the Most Beautiful girl at Lake View was Kara Orand. She was an active member of the Chieftain Band for two years and was a Chieftette her senior year.

Pete Johnston was elected as Most Handsome. He was a transfer student from Parkwood High School in Joplin, Missouri. At PHS he was on the JV basketball and football teams. He was also a member of the Student Council.

Best Personality

The girl chosen for Best Personality was Katie Holman, junior. She was a varsity cheerleader and also a Homecoming duchess this year. Katie was also a member of the varsity tennis team and participated in many activities including FTA, Drama, Speech Club, and Student Council.

Derek Rushing was the boy elected with the Best Personality. A junior, he has been actively involved in athletics. Derek has played varsity football for two years and as a freshman was involved in track and basketball. He was also a member of FCA.

Duckworth Marks 15 Years

Dr. Nevins Retires

This concluded Dr. James Nevins' sixth year as superintendent of the San Angelo Public Schools.

Dr. Nevins led the school administration in working towards providing San Angelo students with top quality education.

This year, computerizing the grading system, eliminating semester test exemptions, and increasing the study of literary arts in the schools, were a few changes made by the Board.

This also marked Mr. Herschel Duckworth's fifteenth year as principal of Lake View.

Mr. Duckworth was responsible for taking care of major problems that arose during the year as well as everyday crises.

Mr. Bob Meek, assistant principal, handled truancy, tardiness, and disciplinary problems, along with the distribution and management of textbooks.

Seminar, Compositions Make Up English Year

"Thou shalt not drink," or rather, "Thou shouldn't drink." Whichever, this statement may still seem out of place in an English class.

But this was the point that the English teachers tried to put across in a seminar on alcohol held during the English classes for three days in January.

In some English classes, a year long program came about this year, where students were required to write many more compositions and essays than in the past years.

Resourses classes were also offered for students who needed special help in learning.

Math, Science Offer Varying Opportunities

Both required and elective courses were offered in the science and math departments. These courses provided a means for a challenge of the minds for students interested in these fields. Science and math studies were obtained in different degrees ranging from the simplest business math problem to the most complex formulas in chemistry and trigonometry.

According to Mr. Kenneth Hemphill, math teacher, "Business math, or any math, is a must for young people who contemplate entering the business world."

Election Year Makes History More Special

One reason 1980-81 was so special was because it was an election year, a year bringing changes internationally. Not to be left out was Mrs. Mary Ellen Emery's and Mr. Frank Simpson's civics classes who combined to conduct a local poll, predicting the outcome of the presidential election.

The American and World History took a step back in time, discovering through studies what brought us to this great land of ours.

A highlight in the year was a classroom campaign for Mr. Simpson, in the "Ugliest Person on Campus" drive, which, of course, he won.

Electives Offer Variety

School could be very hum-drum if the only courses offered were the basics. The elective courses added quite a bit of spice to school life, making the everyday routine not so routine.

Speech and drama students were able to develop their skills in speaking and acting, while band and choir students learned new techniques in music. All were able to show their talents in performances and contests throughout the year.

Art students showed their creativity in many different projects, some of which were put on display in the student center trophy case and in the exhibit building at the rodeo in March.

Home and family living and home economics taught both boys and girls the necessities needed to know how to run a home, raise a family, and manage money.

The yearbook and PowWow staffs and photography classes developed writing and pictoral ideas and were able to present them in bi-weekly publications of a newspaper and, of course, a yearbook.

Typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping classes provided a means for improving secretarial skills while the Bible class tried to give a better understanding of the Bible.

Students were offered a chance to learn a second language in the Spanish class including not only speaking, but writing and sentence structure of the language.

Vocational Courses Prepare for Tomorrow

This year LakeView had 38 percent of its juniors and seniors involved in seven vocational courses and working parttime in the afternoons.

"I think that a person should be educated both vocationally and adademically," stated Mr. Jerry Bristo, vocational counselor.

In VOE classes, "Students learn skills and how to support themselves," said Mrs. Barbara Purser, VOE teacher.

In the vocational courses, students were able to learn a skill or trade that would help them in getting a job after high school. They were able to train in office work, carpentry, auto mechanics, clothing services, and even agriculture.

With these vocational courses, the students were not only taught a trade, but also the responsibilities of a mature person working in today's world.

"Stretch those legs!", "Bend those knees!", "Where's your gym shorts!" . . . All too familiar sounds heard in the P.E. classes this year.

Five quarters over a period of three years are required of the course along with two quarters of Health studies conducted by P.E. and athletic coaches.

"Health instruction is a necessity in schools. Unfortunately, many students don't apply themselves to the practices that are presented with formal instruction," stated Mr. Dale McClellan, athletic coach.

LakeView counselors, Mr. Jerry Bristo and Mr. Fern Smathers worked daily guiding students to make better decisions concerning school and even personal problems.

Both men helped students in determining which academic classes, activities, athletics, and which college would best suit them and be of most use to them in the years to come.

"I think our primary goal in high school is to help students gain a better understanding of themselves, and have a happier life," stated Mr. Smathers.

Mr. Tom Fambrough had control over the AV room, printing Xerox copies for the faculty, lending out audio-visual equipment.

Clerical assistance was provided to the teachers and administrators by the secretaries and aides, while Mrs. Billie Eckles kept things running smoothly in the library.

Teacher of the Year Teacher of the Year Teacher of the Year Teacher of the Year Teacher of the Year

Students Pick Martinez

Sheila, You're a super person, enjoyed having you in our gym. Good luck next year. Sheila, thanks for helping me during basketball season, I will remember you. Coach Mart

With four kids, a wife, and the multiple job of P.E. teacher, freshman coach and varsity scout, you wouldn't think Coach Alfredo Martinez would have time to be "popular". Even so, after teaching at Lake View for only three years, the student body chose him as Teacher of the Year.

"I don't care what kind of student they are: rich, poor, A-student or BGL," stated Martinez, "I'm a good listener."

He feels that communication and understanding are very important and he tries to convey these in his lifestyle. He gains personal satisfaction from helping people.

"If I can help one or two students having problems," he said, "I feel I have accomplished something."

Coach Martinez has been married to Manuela for sixteen years and has four kids: Cindy, Freddie, Gregory, and Debbie.

What keeps this incredible man sane when the going gets rough? "I have a favorite Bible verse that explains how I survive: "I can do all things in him who strengthens me." Philippians 4:13."

He says he is happy with Lake View's good student body, coaching staff, and atmosphere. He likes it here for three main reasons — the kids, administration, and the principal.

With a final thought, he expressed, "Caring and taking the time to listen. That's what it's all about."

Student Teachers Gain Practical Experience

Over the years, hundreds of teachers have come and gone through the halls of Lake View, each devoting their time to helping increase the knowledge in the minds of students.

But for every teacher, there has to be a transition period between the time that they are still themselves a student, to the time they become an instructor. This transition is known as student teaching, when an inexperienced teacher goes out into the world for on-the-job training after four years of study in college.

This year Lake View carried nine student teachers from January until May. The student teachers observed the regular teachers in class for a few days before they began to instruct on their own.

"I was real nervous the first time I was alone to face the class," stated Miss Gayla Toliver, a business major.

Miss Toliver also said that she had been undecided about teaching before her student teaching period, but after coming to Lake View, she had decided that she wanted to teach for sure.

Mrs. Fran Steltzreid, journalism student teacher, also stated that she was definite about wanting to teach.

According to Miss Elliott, another journalism student teacher, the experience is very important in that it gives the teacher-to-be an early exposure to the classroom, preparing them for what to expect in the years to come.

The student teachers received six hours college credit during the five months of student teaching.

Staff Readies Plant

Can you imagine, day after day, having to cook for and clean up after a thousand people? This was exactly what the snackbar and cafeteria crew had to do nine months out of the year, as inflation hit and sent the price for a meal up to 70 cents.

This year a new law took carbonated drinks out of the schools and replaced them with fruit punches.

The school custodians kept the grounds in top quality condition, often having help from students who left trays on tables or spit tobacco on the floor.

SEMINAR HELD

Alcoholics Tell Their Story

By Christy Harris
Staff Writer

"Hi, I'm Bob — and I'm an alcoholic." The names were changed, but this is the way that four of the speakers began their testimonies in Lake View's first alcohol seminar.

The seminar was held through the English classes, and Mrs. Carolyn Underwood had charge of the show.

The purpose of the seminar was not to tell students not to drink, but rather to inform them about alcohol, how alcoholism starts, and how it can end.

"The students really got a lot out of it," stated Mrs. Underwood, referring to the seminar.

During the three days of the seminar, students answered questionnaires, watched a film, and listened to the first-hand experiences of recovering alcoholics.

"Alcoholism is a disease," said Judy, one of the four speakers.

The "recovering" alcoholics, Bob, Judy, and Jane all spoke of the seriousness of their "disease", how they almost destroyed their own lives and that of their families; but all talked of hope for the future.

In a post-census taken from the student body, most students strongly agreed that much was learned from the seminar.

Many students felt that the most significant part of the seminar was hearing the speakers, who, by the way are all members of Alcoholics Anonymous. However, most students suggested that listening to alcoholics their own age would have had a stronger effect for they would have been easier to relate to.

"I feel that it would have been better if they would have had a film showing the effects of alcohol and withdrawal," stated Amy Heller, senior.

Many students also felt that there was room for improvement in the seminar, but most all agreed that more seminars should be held on subjects such as alcohol.

"If just one person was helped or prevented from becoming an alcoholic because of the seminar, then it was worthwhile," said Mrs. Underwood.

Re-alignment Moves LV to Tougher 2-4A District

BY TERRY BAHLMAN

Returning from a successful season last year, a new and relatively untried Chief football squad held high hopes of another winning season. A new and tougher district faced the tribe as realignments in district and classes moved the Chiefs into class 2-4A.

The rebuilt and untried Chiefs came in after last year's bi-district championship team proved to be the toughest Lake View team in years.

A small, but quick and powerful team, the Chieftains opened their season on a victorious note with a 9-0 win against the tough Del Rio Rams.

The Chiefs were three-point underdogs in the game and the win built confidence for the Chiefs as they looked forward with an optimistic attitude to the developing season.

But gloom lurked just around the corner as the jubilant Chiefs faced Stamford the next week and walked away with a stunning 21-0 loss. The Chieftains finished pre-district play with a 1-1 record and a cautious eye on their next opponent, the top ranked team in the district, Andrews.

New zoning in districts doubled the number of district games the Chiefs would play in comparison to last year and seemingly doubled the trouble for the tribe. The new schedule opened for the Chiefs against the higest ranked team in the district.

The tribe traveled nervously to Andrews to face the Mustangs and like a knight defeated in battle, returned with a disappointing 28-14 loss.

Rain Dampens Chiefs; LV Stops Tigers

BY TERRY BAHLMAN

The disheartened Chieftains then cast their eyes and hopes on the next game hoping that another team of Mustangs, this time from Sweetwater, would not spoil their hopes. But if a Mustang mascot could be considered an omen for bad luck, it certainly meant it for the Chiefs.

In a pouring rain, the Chieftains were handed their second consecutive district loss at the hooves of Mustangs, this time by a 7-0 tally.

With dampened spirits, the tribe next faced an old despised rival, the Snyder Tigers. Seeking to chalk a mark on the victory slate, the Chiefs rolled into Tiger territory and then rolled out with a 21-4 victory, the Chiefs first district win of the new season.

Open Date Readies LV For Tors

BY TERRY BAHLMAN

After a week of rest from an open date, the Chiefs returned with renewed vigor to face the Lamesa Golden Tornados in Lake View's homecoming game. With the assets of the number two ranked quarterback in 2-4A, Steve Hernandez, and the number two ranked receiver, Jimmy Marsh, the Chiefs squared off with the Golden Tors looking to even their district record. The Hernandez-Marsh duo connected four times for 93 yards and one touchdown and led the Tribe to a joyous 21-0 victory. By their performance Hernandez and Marsh achieved number one rankings in their respective positions.

The Chiefs' season, however, proved to see-saw back and forth between victory and defeat. With half of the district schedule complete, the Chiefs were in balance at 2-2. Although the Tribe seemed to be on an upswing, the Pecos Eagles moved the pendulum to defeat for the Chiefs in a controversial game which left the Tribe holding a 17-14 loss. The Chiefs returned from Pecos in a state of anger and bewilderment from a last second questionable touchdown call which gave the Eagles the edge.

Disillusioned and angry, the Chiefs now faced a quick Ector team on Halloween night. But Ector's tricks and speed were no match for the Chiefs' talent and determination as the Tribe treated the Eagles to a 35-10 defeat. The pendulum was once again in balance at 3-3.

Loboes Dump LV

No longer the district powerhouse of last year and aware that the district champion title had now faded, the Chieftains faced the task of completing the season.

Two games remained on tap for the Chiefs and the Tribe traveled to the sands of Monahans to begin the end. But over the dunes lay perhaps what could have been predicted based on the up and down season of the Chiefs. Monahans handed the Chiefs their fourth district loss by a 12-0 count, the third scoreless game for the Tribe.

Pendulum Swings LV to 4-6 Record

BY TERRY BAHLMAN

The record for the entire season was now at 4-5. One game remained which would either even the record or leave the Chiefs with a losing season. But if the back and forth action of the Chiefs could have been predicted before the Monahans contest, Fort Stockton proved that the seemingly predictable is often unpredictable, and when the game was over, the Chiefs had fallen to Fort Stockton by a narrow 20-19 margin. The Tribe's season was finished with a 4-6 record, now all that remained were the memories of the past and the hope of the future.

"We progressively got better," said Coach Ben Norton.

The Junior Varsity posted victories against Brownwood, 20-14; Ft. Stockton, 34-20; Sweetwater, 28-14; and 12-6.

Chiefs Start Season Off Slowly

The Chiefs started out the 1980-'81 season with a loss as they played Sweetwater in the Sweetwater Tournament November 21-22. "The football players came in while we were working out and we didn't have a chance to work out too long," said Head Coach Paul Stein.

Stan Laing was high pointer with 17 out of 44 points scored. Danny Priddy was second highest with 12 points. Later in the tournament, they came up on the short end as they lost to Fort Stockton, 43-41. Laing was high pointer with 27 and Jimmy Marsh was next with 6 points. "I would have to rate our playing during this tournament as 'fairly good' considering the team has not been together too long," explained Coach Stein.

On November 25, Lake View played Brownwood and lost 42-28. Laing was again high pointer with 15 and Jeff Bozeman was next as he sunk 6 points. "Brownwood was in the playoffs in football and didn't have all of their team, but the main factor was the home team advantage," stated Coach Stein.

The Chiefs played Big Lake December 2 and won 43-39 in overtime. The score was tied at 35 all but the Chiefs pulled it out. Laing was once again high pointer with 29 points and Marsh was next with 7 points. "In this game they finally found out the meaning of hustle and pride," commented Coach Stein.

LV Tourney Has Top Competitors

The Chief Challenge tournament, held December 5-6 was in opponents' favor as LV lost two out of three games. On December 5, they played Lamesa and lost 46-36. Stan Laing was high pointer with 18 while Jeff Bozeman tipped in six points. Later that same day, the Chiefs played Big Lake and lost 49-41. High pointer was Laing with 10 points and next highest was Earl Clemons with 9 points. The next day, Monahans fell to the Chiefs 51-48. Laing was high scorer with 12 while Bozeman and Danny Priddy both sunk 10 points.

On December 9, the Chiefs played Reagan County and won 63-60. Laing was again high pointer as he put in 35 points. Jimmy Marsh was next highest with 13.

Lake View played Brownwood for the second time here winning 35-34. Kent Corder was high pointer with 11 while Laing put in 8 points.

The first district game was held December 9 with Fort Stockton. The Chiefs lost 61-58. High pointer was Laing with 14 points and Corder added 13 points.

Later, on January 2, Lake View had its second district game against Andrews and lost 75-25. Laing was high pointer with 12 points.

The next game, on January 6, was against Sweetwater and the Chiefs met defeat again 50-46. Laing was high pointer with 18, while Priddy sunk 10.

Later, on January 9, the Chiefs were beaten by Ector 60-56. Laing was high pointer again as he netted 22 points and Corder put in 16.

Non-district foe Bronte was next on January 13 and the Cagers won 64-46.

Chiefs Add Up Points

By Martin Molotsky
Staff Writer

Lake View beat Monahans in overtime Jan. 16 by the score of 40-38. "This has been one of our better second half efforts of the year," commented Coach Paul Stein. Stan Laing contributed 20 points as Jeff Bozeman put in 12.

On Jan. 24, the Chiefs were beaten by Snyder, 31-53. "Stan Laing, Kent Corder, and Danny Priddy were all starters at the time and were all sick and couldn't play," said Coach Stein. "It's pretty tough to play when you have three starters out." Corder and Earl Clemons tied for high pointer as they put in 8 points each. Laing had 6 points.

Laing put in 29 points against Pecos on Jan. 23 to lead the Chiefs to a 59-43 victory. "This had to be one of Laing's better performances of the year," said Coach Stein. Corder was second high-pointer with 8 points.

"This game has to be one of our best mental performances of the year," stated Coach Stein about the 52-41 victory over Ft. Stockton, Jan. 30. Laing was high pointer with 23 points while Bozeman and Corder sunk 12 points each.

Lake View lost to Sweetwater on Feb. 3, 51-41. "This is one of the worst ball games we have played all year especially mentally," stated Coach Paul Stein. Laing contributed 15 points as Clemons put in 8 points.

The Chiefs suffered a loss to Andrews on Feb. 6, 84-56. Coach Stein's only comment was "YUK!"

The Cagers suffered a loss at the hands of Ector Feb. 13 80-61. Bozeman contributed 21 points and Laing 17.

Maids on Top in Season Opener; Place Third in S'water Tourney

By Darla Lohse
Staff Writer

Starting out the season right by defeating Midland, 55-50, gave the Maidens high hopes of games to come. Midland was a strong 5-5A team having won district the past four years.

In the Sweetwater tournament the Maidens defeated Odessa Ector, 69-50. The Blue and White placed third in the tourney after losing to Abilene Cooper in an early round and coming back defeating Vernon, 49-40.

Maidens avenged the earlier loss to Abilene Cooper by a close score of 45-44.

Senior Lynda Rogers was the Maidens' high pointer for the tournament scoring 22 points against Odessa. Becky Martin and Donna White, both juniors, followed behind with 13 and 10 points.

The first district game was a one-point loss due to [illegible] against Monahans.

Lake View defeated Lamesa and Pecos in district competition leaving them with a 2-1 record for the season.

Maids Host Tourney

Carrying on with district competition, Maidens lost to Snyder, 35-39. Snyder was last year's district champion after defeating the Maidens in a play-off.

Opening the 31st Annual Maiden Tournament was Lake View defeating Ft. Stockton. This game doubled as a district game.

San Angelo Central won the tournament and downed the Maidens, 31-44. This was the first time ever the two schools have played one another on the varsity level in any sport.

Cynthia Brown, junior, was high pointer in the tourney scoring 12 points. Becky Martin, also junior, followed closely behind by contributing 11 points.

The Blue and White defeated Andrews, 46-43, during the Christmas holidays without their leading scorer, Lynda Rogers.

Maidens eased by Sweetwater, 67-42, after being defeated by them twice last year. This was listed as one of the best games of the year since Sweetwater was undefeated in district.

Lake View fell to Odessa Ector, 43-50, after being "weakened" because of injuries to Patty Floyd, Sandy Bolen, Lynda Rogers, and Renee Cornelius.

With a chance to start the second half of district play with a victory, the Maidens played "as cold as the weather outside" at Monahans, giving them a 30-20 victory with Lynda Rogers scoring eight points. Lake View shot 17 per cent from the field.

The Maidens avenged the loss earlier in the year to the Tigers by defeating them 63-48. Rogers scored 24 points with defensive play by Denise Baker and Cynthia Brown.

Another long road trip proved to be a hardship for the Maidens leaving them with a 50-40 defeat by Pecos. Rogers contributed 10 points to be top scorer.

Good defense and balanced scoring led to an "easy" victory over Lamesa, 64-28. Rogers scored 16 points with Lyn Ann Klutts and Brown following closely behind with 10 points each.

The Maidens showed their physical and mental skills by overpowering Ft. Stockton, 40-36, Jan. 30. Brenda Jameson was high pointer with nine points. Donna White and Lynda Rogers followed with eight and seven points.

First game for the Maiden team being "healthy" paid-off with a 51-46 victory over Sweetwater. Jameson topped the scores with 18 points and Rogers next with 9.

Team depth and being able to out-hustle Andrews proved to be enough for a 52-48 victory Feb. 6. Renee Cornelius was high pointer with 10. Denise Baker and Donna White followed with nine points each.

Maidens closed out the season with a "well played" game against a very quick team, defeating Ector 55-45, Feb. 13. White dumped in 15 points with Jameson and Rogers scoring 10 each.

JV Ends With 18-3 Record

The Junior Varsity Maiden basketball team ended the season with an impressive 18-3 record. The JV's will move on to better competition in varsity play next year.

LV Changes to Larger District

By Terry Bahlman
Staff Writer

District realignments put the Chiefs and Maidens in a tougher and more competitive district during this school year. Lake View was placed in district 2-4A which was larger than the previous 3-3A district which included only five schools. The new district has nine teams.

According to the Athletic Director Jim Slaughter, the district realignments had some positive effects on Lake View's athletic program.

"The district is a whole lot more competitive," said Coach Slaughter.

"We didn't have any really easy games," he added.

Coach Slaughter also said that the emotional level among players is higher than before and that once adjustments are made to playing new teams and "new faces", athletes at Lake View will be more able mentally to prepare themselves for competition. In addition, stronger rivalries will be formed between teams and attendance at games will increase, according to Coach Slaughter.

But while the realignments had some positive effec on the athletic program, it also incurred some negati effects.

"The travel thing became a very big thing. Travel costs went up tremendously," said Coach Slaughter

While travel did not seemingly have an effect on football because of weekend games, it did affect basketball teams when games were played on weekdays.

"Travel hurt basketball because they play more often," stated Coach Slaughter.

The new district included Andrews, Odessa Ector, Fort Stockton, Lamesa, Monahans, Pecos, Snyder, a Sweetwater. The new and competitive district expanded Lake View's athletic program and provide stronger and more developed program for future athletes at Lake View.

All people may be different, but many have the same interests, the reason for clubs.

Students gather together to share these interests and raise thousands of dollars for their causes, and of course to enjoy.

'We Believe!'

"Do you believe in the Lake View Chiefs? . . . We believe!!!" This was more than just a yell to Lake View's cheerleaders this year.

"It was a feeling; a feeling we'll always have," said Stacy Baker, head cheerleader.

The six girls backed the Chiefs all the way beginning from June of 1980 at camp, where they received five blue ribbons for outstanding performances, through basketball and track seasons.

The girls worked hard during the summer selling advertisements for the lineups to raise money for the uniforms and camp.

JV, Frosh Cheer Teams

It was a first for the Jr. Varsity cheerleaders, getting to go to camp this summer at Hardin-Simmons in Abilene.

"We had a lot of fun at camp," stated Duffy Martin. "It was an experience I'll never forget." Both J.V. and Freshman cheerleaders were there to support their teams in victory and defeat.

Chiefettes Come Alive

Through burning, hot weather, rain or snow, who is it that was always there? No, not the postman but the LV Chiefettes.

Beginning in the summer, the Chiefettes began working and learning cheers, getting ready for the year's sports season.

Spirit was kept alive by the pouring rain of the Sweetwater game.

For Homecoming, the Chiefettes performed a routine to "Don't Stop 'til You Get Enough", at the pep rally.

In October, stadium cushions were sold to raise money for meals on out-of-town trips.

Band Plays With Spirit

This year, members of the band worked hard at football games, and special performances as well.

However, the band did not perform at every game, as pouring rain had them sitting down throughout the Lake View/Sweetwater contest.

Nevertheless, the band supported the Chiefs by chanting alongside the Chiefettes.

The band sold candy in October and, in March, marched in the rodeo.

Flag Corps Add Color

Always marching in front of the band were the Flags and Rifles Corps.

Members of the band Corps sponsored a carwash, with proceeds going toward the purchase of new flag poles and four new rifles.

During January, band members and the flag and rifle corps performed during halftime of a basketball game.

NHS

This year Mrs. Billie Evans ended her eighth year as sponsor of the National Honor Society.

The club held several fund raisers during the year, earning money for a scholarship to be given to a N.H.S. member.

In the spring the annual banquet was given by the Downtown Kiwanis Club honoring both Lake View and Central National Honor Societies.

Art

Meeting once each month of the school year, the Art Club stayed very active this year. "Keyrings were sold to raise money for the club," stated Teresa Darby, member.

During the month of December, the Art Club had on display at San Angelo National Bank a Christmas tree bearing the theme, "A Host of Angels."

Throughout the year, the club displayed many of their projects in the student center.

Girls Athletic Assocation helped build sportsmanship and increased interest in women's athletics.

The club had an executive council made up of Chairman, Gail Carter; Vice Chairman, LynAnn Klutts; Secretary-Treasurer, Dana Olin; and each class representative: Shelia Gordon — Freshman, Kelly Irvin — Sophomore, Becky Martin — Junior, and Denise Baker — Senior.

"G.A.A. helps build teamwork by promoting participation in girls athletics," said Coach Dale McClellan, sponsor.

FCA

Fellowship of Christian Athletes was a club designed so athletes could have Christian fellowship with one another and help worthy causes if possible.

This year's officers were: President — Renee Cornelius, Vice-President — Jimmy Don Petrick, and Secretary — John Hyatt.

"F.C.A. provides Christian fellowship for all athletes at Lake View High School," stated Coach Jerry Horn, sponsor.

FTA

Future Teachers of America stayed active this year raising money to benefit the club, according to Mrs. Jana Barnard and Miss Barbara Wade, sponsors.

The group held bake sales through out the year and sold candy bars, pocket calendars, and stuffed animals.

Los Alumnos

This was Coach Felix Lopez's first year as sponsor of Los Alumnos, a club organized for the Mexican American student.

1981 was a year of growth for the group having more members this year than ever before.

Los Alumnos sponsored several projects during the year to raise money for the club, selling baked goods at school, washing cars, and raffling a turkey at Thanksgiving.

Auto Repair

The auto repair course conducted by Mr. Rick Heller, provided instruction in the principles of the engine and the maintenance of cars and trucks. The students worked on the cars of classmates and teachers with no charge for labor. The customer only paid for the parts needed.

YFC

In addition to reading the "Thought of the Day" over the public address system each morning, the Youth for Christ worked hard on projects for the needy and shut-ins.

In December, the annual Christmas party was given in the lounge to the faculty by the club. Also in January and Febraury, YFC held programs at Baptist Memorial Geriatric Hospital, singing, reading Bible scriptures, and giving personal testimonies to the patients.

Math

Math Club members were able to participate in three different levels in the University Interscholastic League meets. Students competed in number sense, and calculators, on the district, region, and state levels.

Members who placed in these competitions were awarded letter jackets, medals, and trophies.

Math Club, Front row: L. Maxwell, S. Cahill, J. Boehm, R. Turner, S. Scott, K. Wendland, D. Wright. Back row: T. Anderson, B. Kirk, K. Corder, T. Spradley, J. Yonan, K. Taylor, A. Vardeman, P. Grahm.

Elliott, M. Wilson, J. Moorehead. Back row: P. Scarpa, P. McDonald, D. Galindo, E. Ernst, J. Hyatt, L. Maxwell, K. Orand, M. Little, V. McKinney.

The Speech Club sponsored many activities this year in effort to raise money for the speech and drama classes to go to contest and present plays locally.

"We had a very good group this year. We worked hard but had a lot of fun doing it," stated Julie Yonan, president of the club.

Besides sponsoring a pantomime contest, a concert with singer Roger Young, and selling LV license plates, the group also put on a weekly radio show, "Lake View Today", over local radio stations.

Printing

Printing, Front: P. Collins, S.Johnson, L. Eastman, L. Moore. Second row: E. Ellis, J. Baker, C. Dye, B. Garcia, I. Sepeda, M. Constancio, C. Cundiff. Third row: Mr. Joe Culp, sponsor, R. Taylor, I. Hernandez, M. Lopez, S. Biera, S. Saldivar, Y. Armador, C. Thomlinson. Fourth row: K. Jones, B. Phillips, B. Moore, S. Clark, M. Henry.

The printing class underwent some changes this year, and not only the students, but Mr. Joe Culp, printing teacher, had to adjust to these changes.

"We have been in the process of receiving some new equipment including a modern, updated, computer phototype setter," stated Culp.

The new equipment wasn't easy to learn to use, but in the end, it saved a lot of time for the class and prepared them for jobs with print shops who have already obtained the computerized system of processing.

Clothing Service

The vocational clothing class, held at Lincoln Jr. High, was taught by Mrs. Betty Oates.

The course helped the students learn the principles in sewing and upholstery.

Numerous items were made throughout the year and at the end of the year they sold these items to make money.

Const. Trades

The construction trades classes met at Lincoln two hours a day. Mr. John Bearfield instructed the classes in areas such as construction, repair of wooden articles, and how to use wood-working machines and hand tools.

According to Larry Hill, sponsor, Industrial Cooperative Training was designed for students who want to go to school and work both. "Basically, we have the program so students can learn a trade and get their diploma at the same time," he remarked.

The group sponsored three fund raising projects this year. Besides selling lollipops, two raffles were held giving away a deer rifle and a goose down coat.

CVAE

The chief purpose of Cooperative Vocational Academic Education is, basically, just to "learn a skill," according to Wayne Cyphers, sponsor of the group.

This year, C.V.A.E. worked hard selling chances for a side of beef. The money raised in the raffle was given as a donation of $200 to the San Angelo Rehabilitation Center.

FHA

Sponsored by Miss Jane Bale and Mrs. JoAnn Green, the Future Homemakers of America was organized to teach both boys and girls how to manage the home, in projects such as cooking, sewing, and interior decorating.

The group sponsored fundraisers for money to improve the homemaking room and to go to contests which were held in March.

"Candles were sold to raise money for the purchase of a video recorder," stated Miss Green.

OEA

The Office Education Association kept themselves very busy with fundraisers, charitable projects and preparing for their area contests which were held in Abilene this year.

The money raised by selling glitter plaques and critter bells was used for the club's annual Employee-Employer Banquet held at the Angelo State University in February.

At Thanksgiving boxes of groceries and goodies were given to two needy families and during Christmas, toys were collected and given to the "Toys for Tots" drive.

OEA: Front: C. Munoz, I. Rodriguez, A. Baughn, A. Heller, H. Cambell, T. Gleason, C. Munoz, H. Wilson. Second: A. Hernandez, M. Casaus, C. Brown, J. Turner, S. Wilson, E. Perez, J. Wolsfeld, C. Back row: Gene Huckabaa, president; Kelly Hillhouse, Tina Winans, secretary; Scott Powell, Sam Harding, Robert Anderson, junior historian; Danny Franco, sgt.-at-arms; Scott Snow, Auther Sosa, Tommy Burney.

"The Ugliest Person on Campus" was only one of the several fund-raising projects sponsored by Distributive Education.

In October the club sold ads for the basketball program to raise money for the Employee-Employer Banquet. The club also managed the basketball concession stand where members took turns working.

In January, the club started preparing for contest in business and writing skills held in March.

"DE is set up to accommodate the student," stated Royce Burrows, sponsor. "This way the student can earn money and still get a high school education in the process."

Gene Huckabaa, president, remarked, "This is my second year in DE and I've learned a lot. I was able to buy a pickup and still go to school."

FFA

Agriculture is a course given for students who are interested in raising livestock. Instructed by Mr. Ted Weeaks, the class teaches students everything from the beginning of life of an animal to the selling or purchasing of it.

In January, students showed livestock in the San Angelo Junior Livestock Show placing in categories of steers, heifers, and lambs. Tami Wester, Wesley Wester, and Chris Weeaks took Grand Champion, Reserve Champion, and first place, respectively, in the steer category. Other students placed with their livestock in the spring at contests in Ft. Worth, Houston, and San Antonio.

Sweetheart

This year's Future Farmers of America sweetheart was Cindy Hembree. Cindy, a junior, was a "greenhand," a first year student. She showed calves, and was vice-president of the Junior Chapter. In January, she participated in the district Sweetheart contest.

Voices rang out through the corridors of the school this year as Lake View's choir and ensemble groups rehearsed for their many performances that were given throughout the year.

The groups performed for a number of civic organizations, the First Methodist Church, San Angelo National Bank, and during the Christmas season, at Sunset Mall.

According to choral director, Mrs. Shirley Robison, there were also special ensemble groups who "performed frequently in the community," including a special on the Pat Attebery Show. Ensemble members were selected by judges after auditions were held.

Several students exceptional in vocal competition were Billy Kirk and Renee Massey, both receiving All-Region honors, Becky Rhyne, receiving All-Region, All-Area, and All-State, and Monte Maxwell with All-Region, All-Area, and State alternate honors.

The choir sold candy, baked goods, cheese, and held a carwash in an effort to raise money for a trip to Houston and for U.I.L. competition which was held in March at Midland.

Yearbook

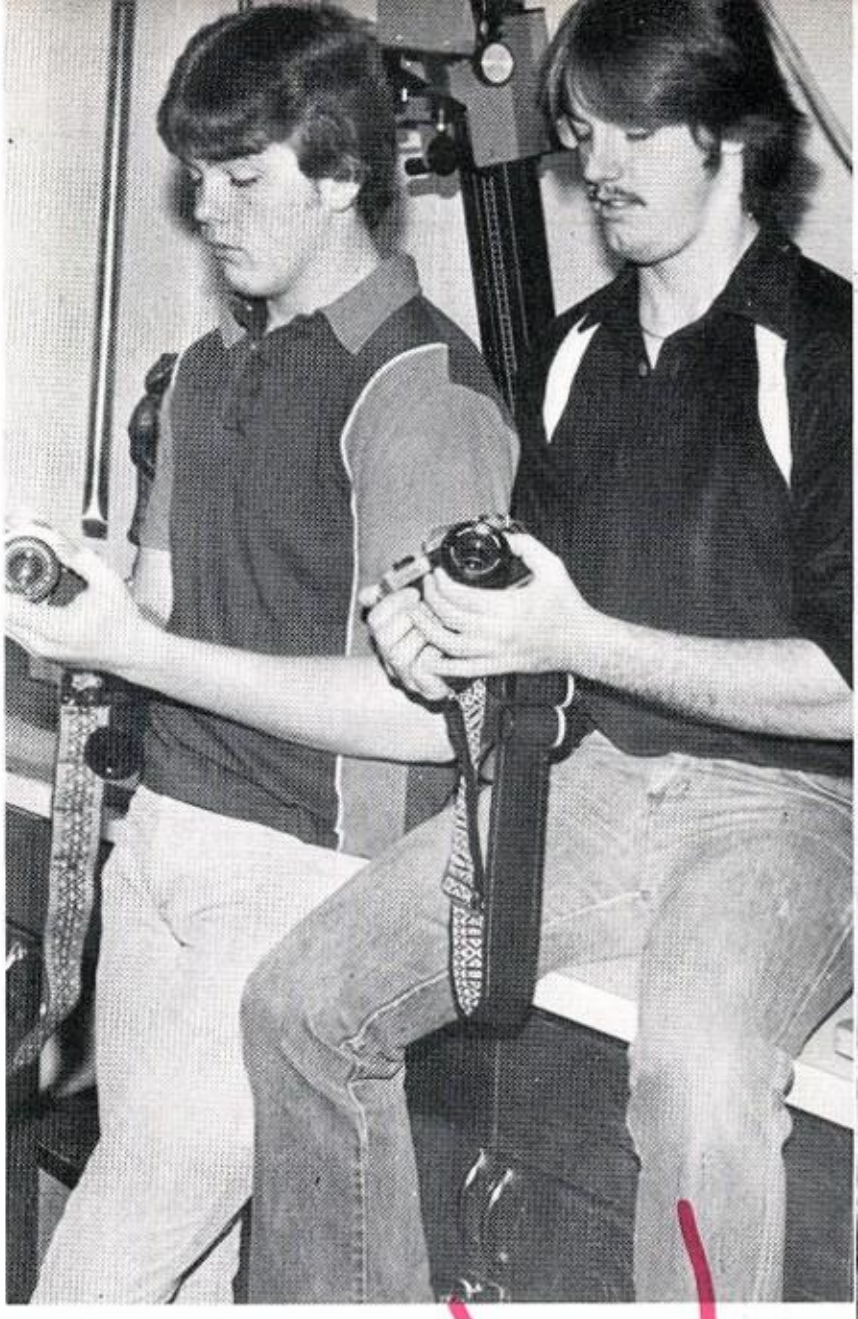
Editors: Tracie Bolding, Assistant Editor; Mickey Jackson, Editor; Jeanann Goss, Business Manager; Gloria Sanchez, Activities Editor; Debbie Huff, Classes Editor; Christy Harris, Copy Editor.



Photographers: Sam Harding and Gary Liebo.

Try to imagine a school year without the excitement of getting the school yearbook and having friends autograph it. The yearbook staff designed layouts for each section, chose colors and type, and met deadlines.

The designs developed for the yearbook were chosen to receive an "Outstanding Yearbook Design" award at the Texas Tech University Yearbook Workshop last summer. Thirty schools were entered in the competition and the Chieftain staffers were awarded one of five plaques for the development of theme and the design of the layouts.

The Pow Wow staff provided information about Lake View and the community through the publication of 16 issues of the school newspaper.

The staff gathered information, wrote stories, got pictures and layed out the pages as a part of each deadline.

Staff members competed in feature writing, headline writing, news writing and editorial writing in University Interscholastic League contests at District, Regional and State levels during the spring.

Student Council

The student council was organized to plan school activities and give students a voice in how the school is run.

This year the council was reduced in size from 75 homeroom representatives to 39. There were also six officers and four class presidents making an executive council.

The student council's big project was to revise the parking system.

"A policeman was hired to take care of the parking lot and it ran very efficiently," said Mrs. Mary Ellen Emery, student council sponsor.

Front: L. Kennedy, Mrs. Emery, Sponsor, C. Martin, parl., J. Turner, sec., S. Baker, treas., K. Pierce, hist., J. Yonan, v. pres., P. Young, pres. Second: S. Gordon, K. Welch, W. McKada, K. Nixon, T. Anderson, R. Franco.

Jimmy Don Petrick and Angie Williams were crowned Mr. and Miss Spirit of Christmas Dec. 19.

There was also a canned good contest between the classes. The senior class won the contest and a $15 prize. Sophomores were second winning $10 and the juniors were third winning $5.

All the canned goods were given to the Salvation Army for the needy.

Dances, Twirp Week Held by SC

The Student Council sponsored four dances, a week of Homecoming activities, and a TWIRP week that included a slave sale.

They also sponsored a film "Hard Times" and an off-broadway production about Daniel Boone.

Clubs Offer Many Opportunities

By Leah Ashley
Staff Writer

Some of 25 clubs and organizations are open to new members every year, offering opportunities to be just about anything from homemaker or farmer, to a mechanic or teacher. Joining can offer prestige, something to break the monotony of school, something to work for.

Why do students join clubs? Do they really believe in it or do they join just so they can have plenty of entries in their yearbooks.

Tina Gleason, senior, joined FTA (Future Teachers of America) to go to the conventions. "It gives me a chance to be with all kinds of people and to enjoy school moore." Gleason is also a member of OEA (Office Education Association), which makes food baskets for needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas. "When we took the baskets to the needy families, it made me feel good that we could help someone." She is also a member of Chiefettes and National Honor Society.

David Roeder, also a senior, has been a member of the Chieftain band for four years, because, "It makes me feel responsible, needed. It makes me feel like I'm fulfilling myself. I want to be a performing musician."

Kathy Martin, senior, plans to be a teacher someday, so, that's one major reason she joined FTA. "It keeps me involved in school."

Dub Shelton, senior, joined FCA (Fellowship of Christian Athletes) because "it makes me feel part of the school spirit and the traditional athletic program at Lake View." Also a member of the Chieftain choir and Ag, he believes he's setting a good example. "It's good if athletes can be in choir, Ag, FCA, etc., and still be among their peers."

"It helps you grow as a person, it helps you establish new friendships and more self-confidence," was senior Leslie Minor's theory on being in organizations. "I wanted to be involved in some school-spirited activity that gave me a sense of belonging in the school."

There's another side to joining a club, other than a sense of belonging or making new friends, or just being involved. For one student, joining YFC (Youth for Christ) provided a personal outlet. "I needed something like that to help me get my life straightened out and it worked," related senior Renee Massey. She is a member of choir because, "I love to sing, that's what my life is going to be, singing."

Joining a club may be for self-expression, self-improvement, or just for special reasons. It can give one a sense of belonging and develop a sense of responsibility. After all, that's part of what school attempts to teach — maturity, responsibility, and discipline.

All sorts of different folks in many different strokes of business show their support each year by buying ads.

This yearbook would be non-existent without them; their generosity is greatly appreciated.

Advertisers Aid High Schools

By Traci Copeland
Staff Writer

"You can't put on a yearbook without ads," said Mr. Barney Barnhart, owner-operator of Barney's Studio.

Yearbook and school newspaper advertisers gave their views of why they advertise with local high schools.

"Seniors and weddings are our business," said Mrs. Vera Snook, co-owner of Creative Photography. "By advertising with the paper we get business from seniors and young brides," she added.

"Advertising is part of the store philosophy," said Mr. John Lynch, head of public affairs at Nathan's Jewelers. "We feel like it is part of participation in school, community and journalism classes," he added.

"The main reason I advertise, is it's my job. As youth ministry goes, I want young people to know there is someone who cares and someone to help — I will," said Mr. Eddie Howard, youth minister of Colorado and Jackson Street Church of Christ.

According to Mrs. Snook, advertising with Lake View's yearbook and paper "is our market".

"The Pow Wow is naturally where we go for advertisements" because they come out every two weeks and we can run coupons with our ads," said Mrs. Snook.

Another photographer, Mr. Barnhart, explained, "We've taken the senior portraits and package pictures for 19 years, so we've bought an ad for 19 years."

Mr. Howard tries to let "kids know there is someone here in town who cares."

"Each of us needs someone to talk to, maybe an outsider, someone other than family or friends," pointed out Mr. Howard.

"Youth have buying power, and the school papers differ from larger papers," said Mr. Lynch. "They feel the school paper is directed to them."

"When we set up here (2900 N. Chad) we had Lake View and their residents in mind," stated Mrs. Snook.

Not only are advertisers needed to put out a yearbook and newspaper, but also football programs and Booster Club Cards and a variety of other school projects.

Is there life after high school?

"Congratulations," they said. "This isn't the end... it's just the beginning." They've said it a thousand times at a thousand graduations. While many young people just like you sat there thinking, "Where do I go from here?"

Where do you go for challenge? And opportunity?

Go Navy.

If you qualify, you'll get some of the best training available in highly skilled job fields. From aviation mechanics to linguistics.

And you'll live a little, too. Travel. Work hard. Even swab some decks.

Get all the facts. Call us toll-free, anytime at 800-841-8000. Or talk to your local Navy recruiter.

A good job. And a good life. The Navy: It's a good deal.

"Lake View Chiefs . . .
Pride of North Angelo!"

Sheila, It looks like another school year has passed and this school year we are best friends. I'm very lucky to have such an understanding friend like you. I know that at times you probably wondered why you got mixed up with me, but I hope you think that it was worth it. We have had some great times together (Rex) and I know that we will have better. You have always been there when I've needed you and you know that I'm always here for you. Please come to me anytime you need to talk because I'm a great listener. I might not always know what to say, but I'll always listen.

Sheila I know that through the school years and all the summers we will grow much closer. Even when you become a famous singer don't forget little 'ole "Red" O.K? Keep that wonderful personality and you will get to the top and stay ~~that~~ the top.

Best Friends and Love, Debbie Ryan

diff'rent strokes for diff'rent folks

Whether it is sewing on a sewing machine, or stroking the fur of a puppy, all folks have diff'rent strokes, to make money, enjoy life, or just pass the time away. But whatever they might be doing, people everywhere are finding things that help them get the most out of life.

PAGE 226:
1. Students work diligently in classroom.
2. Becky Rhyne, junior, ponders for a moment.
3. Kelly Hillhouse, senior, studies typing procedures.

PAGE 227:
1. "Dance to the music," Margarita Diaz, senior, seems to say.
2. Collecting old cars happens to be one of many different strokes for different folks.
3. "How about a bone," this canine seems to say.

diff'rent interests
for diff'rent folks

People are still diff'rent, and they have diff'rent interests. Some folks like to build, while others would rather spend their time dancing, singing, or reading. Whatever the field may be, all people have hobbies that interest them.

PAGE 228:
1. Mr. Joe Culp, printing teacher, gives a demonstration on how to use a computer printer.
PAGE 229:
1. Robin French, sophomore, sews in clothing class.
2. Mr. John Bearfield, construction trades teacher, shows a student how to build a gun cabinet.
3. Renee Massey, senior, sings in choir class.

diff'rent moods for diff'rent folks

Millions of faces all over the world, and not one with the exact same model. Tears of sadness, tears of joy, angry frowns, and glowing smiles — everyone has diff'rent moods that change minute by minute . . . day by day.

PAGE 230:
1. Mrs. John Robertson, an avid Lake View fan, watches the game during the first half.
PAGE 231:
1. Traci Copeland, senior, relaxes after school.
2. "Here's looking at you!" Cindy Dove, junior, appears to say.
3. Candles are a romantic mood.
4. Mr. Jerry Johnson, biology teacher, has a sudden burst of thoughts.

diff'rent foods for diff'rent folks

People would rather eat than do anything.

Foods ranging from a "sloppy joe" in the snack bar to a steak dinner at Zenters Daughter, to a foot-long coney satisfy diff'rent tastes . . . and diff'rent taste buds.

PAGE 232:
1. Tommy Vickers, senior, has a bite to eat.
2. Karlton Taylor, senior, munches down at lunch.
3. Mike Sellers, senior, has a fun time eating ice cream.

PAGE 233:
1. "Leave my food alone!" says Nancy Mejia, senior.
2. "Who left off the pickles?" Amy Walker, sophomore, seems to say.
3. This barbecue pit awaits for the day it can become useful.

diff'rent challenges for diff'rent folks

Challenge: something that excites or makes demands upon one's talents and interests. These different challenges which stimulate and excite us mentally or physically help us to mature and to meet other challenges.

PAGE 234:
1. Piccolo the Clown gives Mr. Whitley, English teacher, a Valentine serenade.
2. Most Likely to Succeed are Denise Baker and Terry Anderson.
3. Leah Ashley, senior, shows her enthusiasm over finally graduating.

PAGE 235:
1. There is an everyday challenge to get up in the morning.
2. Kent Corder thinks back over high school years.
3. Memories are made up of a diploma, class ring, and school yearbooks.

[illegible] you make me SICK! I miss
[illegible] Dick, [illegible] too glad we can
[illegible] little friends through [illegible]
[illegible] girl that I really like [illegible]
[illegible] [illegible] Dean. [illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]
[illegible]

To Sheila,

Always Best Friends and Funny Girl. Stay the way you are. Take Care.
